

Cookies

What Are Cookies?

Cookies are small files of letters and numbers, which are saved in your computer, when you visit a digital platform (our site).

We use cookies particularly for recognizing you, when you reconnect to our platforms and for introducing to you a tailor-made content, which perfectly suit you.

How To Setup Cookies?

Basic settings of internet browsers allow you to use cookies, but you can simply change it in your browser settings. However, you should keep in mind, that if you disable the use of cookies, you may not have access to some parts of the platforms.

For more information about cookie settings, visit: <http://www.aboutcookies.org/>

Which Cookies We Use?

Depending on the platform, we use cookies in a particular way :

- To identify you, when you connect to our platforms and in particular to get you know better and offer you a personalized site navigation,
- To ensure security on our platforms,
- Offer you a content, which is relevant to your interests including advertising content,
- To offer you a business deals, which match your preferences and your existing purchases.

For more informations about cookies, which are used on this platform, see the paragraph "What cookies are located on this platform?"

Do We use 3rd Party Cookies?

Third-party cookies can be stored on your own hard drive to improve your personal experience and preferences (ads), that can be suggested to you while browsing our website. Depending on the browsing platform third-party cookies can be stored in particular:

- Content of social networks: On our platforms you can publish content from social networks. So when you visit this type of content on our platform, corresponding cookie of social network can be stored on your computer. For more information about cookies policy on these social networks, you can find on appropriate websites.

- Application Flash: Flash cookies are files stored by application Flash. Such an application is often installed as browser plug-in to view dynamic objects, such as graphic animations or videos. Flash cookies can be uploaded whenever an application Flash is used. For more informations about flash cookies, please visit www.adobe.com/fr/ or www.adobe.com

Do We Leave Cookies on Third-party Platforms?

Sometimes we can place our cookies on platforms, which belong to third-parties, that display adds to our brands and/or our products. These cookies are primarily designed to deliver content that suits best to your interests and keep tracking the track of our content (including ads).